

The Windflower
Resorts & Spa - Bandipur
the pug marks never fade...

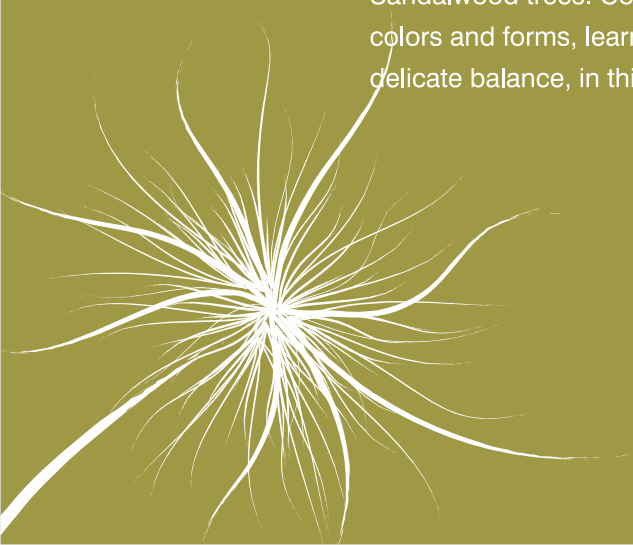

Spot a few wild stripes

The wild call of the untamed jungle... how it resonates in the heart of the footloose traveler! Every day at Bandipur, we come face to face with the mysteries of the wooded highlands... Truly, an unspoiled haven, where nature revels in all its glory.

Pure, unrestrained wilderness, resounding with the call of jungle birds and the distant trumpeting of tuskers.

Bandipur is one of India's best kept secrets, and amongst the few Project Tiger reserves that has seen an actual increase in the population of these endangered cats. The park is home to tigers, four-horned antelopes, crested serpent eagles, as well as towering, fragrant Sandalwood trees. Come, feast on the sight of nature in all her myriad colors and forms, learn the old jungle lore and find your place in this delicate balance, in this untamed heart of the country.

The gentle whisper of swaying trees, and the gurgle of streams in the background. Breezy, expansive living spaces, blending harmoniously with the habitats of the forest's original inhabitants. That's Windflower Bandipur for you. Bringing alive the pristine attractions of the largest protected area in south India, nestling in the lap of the Nilgiri Biosphere reserve.
